MAGDALENA WILL BE HOST TO CATTLE MEN THURSDAY

Big Two Day Celebration In Socorro County Town Expected to Bring Out Large Gathering of Stockgrowers.

Magdalena will be the Mecca of central New Mexico stockmen this week. Thursday and Friday the Socorro county town will be host to the New Mexico Stockmen's association and elaborate arrangements have been made for the entertainment of delegates who are expected to come from all parts of the state. The Santa Fe has made a rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip from all points on its line in New Mexico, and among the distinguished guests will be the officers of the Southwest New Mexico association, Governor McDonald, officers of the Panhandle Stockmen's association, and leading cattle growers from all parts of the state.

In addition to the meetings of the association the entertainment program includes an athletic program, including boxing, basketball, a smoker and reception.

The Williamson-Oldham cattle company at Portales last week received 11 cars of Herefords, 300 cows and 200 calves, which are to be sold to stock farmers in the Portales district. The stuff is high class and came from Snyder, Tex.

Matt Stanley of Denver in Deming last week bought between twelve and fifteen hundred head of yearling steers from Luna county cattlemen which were to be shipped from Deming today. The prices ranged between $29 and $32.

Dr. J. H. Avery, chairman of the cattle sanitary board of Texas, was in Alamogordo last week to receive 2,000 head of cattle purchased from John Snyder of that place.

Cattle thieves have been operating busily in Sierra county during the past week, according to the Hillsboro Free Press, which reports the theft of seven head of saddle horses from Charley Lewis, 32 head of cattle from Benito Chavez, and a number of other smaller thefts.

W. H. Hilton, one of the extensive growers of sheep in Guadalupe county, reports some losses of lambs from cold on his lambing grounds east of the Pecos and south of Santa Rosa.

Hereford, Tex., cattle buyers last week bought 325 head of steers from Earl Erwin and Taylor Polk of Fort Sumner.

W. C. Krebaum of Hachita, N. M., last week bought $10,000 worth of cattle in El Paso from Leavell and Carpenter, for immediate delivery to Hachita.

S. O. Baker, formerly of Silver City and now living in Los Angeles, last week sold 1800 head of goats, closing out his goat county goat interests. Howe and Lincoln of Bayard station were the buyers.

The C. H. Albert company of Fruitland, San Juan county, thus far have shipped 200,000 pounds of wool from that station and other points in the county, at prices generally higher than last season.

This week C. S. Hart moved 1500 head of steers to Running Water, the old lgo ranch, for summer pasture. Mr. Hart says that his staff is in prime condition. This move was made because he had his range overstocked, not because there is any shortage of grass—Portales Valley News.

Cattle can be branded at a rate of more than one a minute in the new branding and vaccinating chute erected at the Kohn ranch near Montoya, Quay county. During the last week more than 1,000 head of yearling steers have been branded and one day 125 steers were branded in exactly one hour and twenty minutes. There is what is called a "squeeze" at one end of the chute, and in this the animal is held for the time necessary for either branding or vaccinating.

A trainload consisting of 25 cars of cattle was shipped to Colorado points Saturday from Avon, Eddy county, where they were loaded. These were mostly cattle sold by Joe James and brought high prices. The two-year-olds brought $42.50 and the three $39 around.

The Lordsburg Liberal says: The past week has been one of much financial activity among the cattlemen of southern Grant county. Several buyers have been here making contracts for spring shipments and many more deals are expected to be closed within another week. H. M. McWhorter, Dee and Kirk Rainbolt and J. W. Curren contracted with Cook & Johnson of Wilcox, Ariz., for 331 for mixed lots of yearlings steers and heifers, for delivery June 1. The cattle will be shipped to Colorado. A bunch of yearlings was shipped Saturday by Foster & Day from the local yards. The NT outfit, the Box M outfit, Rufus Wamel and others closed deals here Thursday with J. W. Phillips of Deming for spring shipments of heifers and steers at $32.

NEWS NOTES FROM ALL OVER THE SUNSHINE STATE

The case against B. D. Oldham, former head of the First National bank of Clovis, and now of Dallas, Texas, in which the charge was making a false return in a bank statement, was thrown out of court at Roswell last week, the case proving without foundation.

Marshall Parker has been missing for several weeks from his home at Axtel, N. M. Suicide is feared.

The Alamogordo and Otero county high schools will hold joint commencement exercises at Alamogordo on May 21st. Rev. T. L. Lallance of Albuquerque will deliver the baccalaureate sermon and Judge G. A. Richardson of Roswell the commencement address.

The next annual convocation of the Episcopal church, for the New Mexico district, will be held in El Paso.

Superintendent J. T. Hofer, for several years past superintendent of schools of Tucuman, was unanimously re-elected to that position last week.

Clovis has issued a municipal order preventing the running of pigs at large within the city limits.

The approaching marriage is announced of Sam Bushman, a well-known attorney of Gallup, to Miss Jean Murlock of Jefferson City, Mo.

The Lincoln county Sunday school convention is announced to be held in Carrizosa on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The Washington authorities have authorized a new sanitary dairy at the marine hospital service sanitarium at Fort Stanton.

The Colfax county grand jury last week returned an indictment against John Henry Tondrow, a wealthy ranchman, charging him with the murder of his wife. Application for change of venue has been made.

Silver City has closed a contract for a motor fire truck.

The Sunnyside sanitarium, one of the well known health resorts near Silver City, has been acquired by the Methodist sanitarium, possession to be given on June 1. The sanitarium was founded six years ago by E.

FARIS V. BUSH PUTS OVER ANOTHER BIG MINING STORY

Lordsburg Editor Tells Mining Men of Hanover District Through the Current Mining and Engineering World

Faris V. Bush, editor of the Lordsburg Liberal, whose articles on mining in New Mexico are beginning to attract wide attention among mining men throughout the country, recently has put over two more important articles, through the Mining and Engineering World. Last week Mr. Bush had the leading article on the Hanover Mining district of New Mexico, profusely illustrated and carrying a wealth of information about the Grant county district, and in the current number he is again given the place of honor with a finely illustrated article on the Steep Rock mining district of New Mexico. The Mining and Engineering World is one of the foremost publications in the country appealing to technical miners, men and engineers and the publicity given these districts by Mr. Bush is likely to prove of great value to the state. The descriptions given are brief and graphic, and a vast amount of condensed information is carried as to the sections described.

Mining men from Red River who have been in Raton during the past week report that the outlook for that district during the coming summer is very bright. As soon as the snow is off and frost out of the ground they say operations will begin on a scale vacinating.

Other deals are under way here today.

Denver Field and Farm says: A. J. Crawford, a banker of Carlsbad, N. M., has been in Colorado putting in a good deal of time to learn the secrets of our lamb feeding business. He went out into the feed lots in the various districts and studied methods as they are practiced here. He got accurate data on feeding operations from start to finish. He saw the pea feeding in the local valleys. He witnessed the feeding of alfalfa and corn and also of beet pulp up north, and has returned home imbued with the idea that they can set up a similar industry in the Pecos valley. The sheep ranges are right there and the crops are produced within a few miles of the ranges. They have through lines of railways to the eastern markets and the rates are not much different than from Colorado points. The winters are milder and the whole scheme looks like a feasible proposition such as might have been inaugurated 25 years ago when we got into the game.

Woodhull. It has press accommodations for fifty patients.

James M. Herve, well known lawyer, is in the moving spirit behind the organization of a golf club at Roswell.

The revaluation board of the Carlsbad reclamation project began its sessions in Carlsbad today.

J. W. Knorr, recently appointed county farm demonstrator for Eddy county, has arrived at Carlsbad to assume his duties. Knorr is a graduate of the state agricultural college and was for a time a member of the faculty.

Magooch, one of the few surviving Apaches who participated in the raid of Geronimo, died last week at Elk Springs, on the Mesquero reservation, at an advanced age.

John W. Poe, president of the Citizens' National bank of Roswell and chairman of the state tax commission, is reported seriously ill at his home in Roswell.

Five new women's clubs have affiliated with the state federation since the first of the year, according to reports at the meeting of the executive board of the federation held last week in Santa Fe.

W. J. Wamel, a Mimbres valley farmer, lost 400 tons of hay, valued at $3,500, by fire at his ranch last week.

The Deming high school at its commencement on May 23 will present diplomas to twelve graduates.

The Alamogordo town board has inaugurated a fly catching campaign for boys and girls of the town. It offers 5 cents per ounce for the remains of all flies turned in to the official fly receiver.

About 1200 per acre was paid last week by W. C. Cox for the O. H. Scott ranch of 18 acres, about a mile and a half from Alamogordo.

Apache county, Arizona, has sold $120,000 of county road bonds to a Chicago firm. The sale was at par.

Yet another important county bridge is to be built in Colfax county. It will be a 100-foot steel structure and will span Sugarite creek on the Des Moines road, seven miles from Raton.

such as has not been known since the early days of the camp. Extensive operations in the Carlsbad mine are proposed for the coming summer.

Chas. P. Bayse, a mining expert of many years' experience, sent out by a number of St. Louis stockholders of the Deep Tunnel mine at Elkhart, town and at the request of McIntire Brothers to make a thorough inspection and report on the mine, passed through Raton last Tuesday afternoon on his return trip. Mr. Bayse stated to a representative of the Raton Range that he was prepared to make a highly favorable report on this property, and was convinced that the development would need to be continued but a very short distance when a big strike was certain to be made.

The tunnel now penetrates Old Baldy mountain more than 4,000 feet. At first Mr. Bayse was inclined to think the tunnel had been driven past the vein, but on causing a shot to be fired on the face of the tunnel found that the mineralization, which is heavy, led directly forward and indicated a large body of rich ore within a few feet—not more than 40 or 50, in his opinion.

Beginning today, shipments from the Atwood mine at Lordsburg will commence under the management of J. L. Wells. The Atwood has secured contracts from the Copper Queen smelter and will ship at about the rate of two cars daily. There is quite a lot of ore on the dumps which will be sent to the smelter first. The values average $3.00 per ton in copper, gold and silver. Mining will also commence within a short time in various places on the three levels of the mine and it is the expectation of Mr. Wells to also prosecute development work. About 35 men will be given employment at the start and the forces increased as work progresses. The Atwood is equipped with excellent mining facilities and is in shape now for producing.

The high price of copper is the cause of resumption of operations at the Atwood and doubtless many other properties in the Lordsburg district will be opened soon.

Owing to the success of the "water-puller" tractor in hauling ore between the 33 mine and the A. & N. M. ore loading platform, Rowan and Downey have placed an order with the Holt Manufacturing company for another one of their 75 horse power tractors, says the Lordsburg Liberal. The machine was shipped this week from Stockton, California and will be put to work upon arrival. The big water-puller tractor has been very successful in its Lordsburg ore haul and the one machine in operating three shifts daily. When the new tractor arrives the Clayton freighters will be able to haul practically all the ore produced by the 33 mine.

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION IS INVOLVED

Interesting Point Brought Up In Suit Filed Today by E. D. Tittmann of Hillsboro, for $60.11 Alleged Salary Due.

Santa Fe, N. M., May 10.—Edward D. Tittmann, the former district attorney of the Seventh judicial district which includes Socorro, Bernal and Valencia counties has filed a petition for mandamus against William G. Sargent, state auditor. The papers have been filed in Santa Fe and ask that Mr. Sargent be compelled to show cause why he should not pay Mr. Tittmann the sum of $60.11 which Mr. Tittmann claims as back salary due him.

While the sum involved is small, the principle involved is of importance as it is no more or less than this: Under our state constitution can officers elected or appointed after the first state election be required to give a bond as a preliminary to their assuming the office.

It seems that Harry P. Owen, elected to succeed Mr. Tittmann, was sworn in on December 24th but did not file his bond until December 30th. The state auditor paid Mr. Tittmann until December 24th and paid Mr. Owen for the balance of the month. Mr. Owen claims that the constitution only requires officers to take oath of office and says nothing about giving bond except that Section 15 of Article 22, the compact with the United States says that officers elected at the next state election shall take the oath and give bond as required by the constitution or by the laws of the territory of New Mexico. It is Mr. Owen's contention that to require bond of other officers would be in conflict with the constitution, and that therefore he took office on December 24th when he was sworn in, and is entitled to pay from that day. If this contention is correct it will be necessary to amend the constitution before even county treasurers can be placed under bond if they are elected or appointed to fill vacancies or when the next election is over. Sheriffs, and all other officers could take office without giving bond, and Mr. Tittmann maintains that the last sentence of the same section provides against such a condition of affairs by saying: "but the legislature may by law require such officers to give other or additional bonds as a condition of their continuance in office."

Commencement Exercises of University of New Mexico In Full Swing Today

ANNUAL CONCERT TONIGHT FEATURE OF THE DAY'S PROGRAM

Smiling Skies Make for Success of Annual Track Meet With Agricultural College This Afternoon.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Dr. Bergman Delivers Notable Sermon In Rodey Hall with Splendid Musical Program Accompanying.

The commencement exercises of the University of New Mexico are in full swing this afternoon, under conditions generally the most auspicious since the beginning of the institution. The opening exercises yesterday, the baccalaureate service in Rodey hall, brought out one of the largest audiences known at a university event, an audience which heard a splendid address by Dr. Moise Bergman, and a musical program which established a new standard for events of the kind in this city.

With fair weather and a fast field the outlook is promising for events of unusual interest at the annual dual track meet on university field between the university and the track team from the state agricultural college this afternoon. The attendance is expected to be large.

The principal event for today in the set program of commencement exercises is the annual concert, to be given at 8 o'clock in Rodey hall, under the direction of E. Stanley Seder. Mr. Seder will be assisted by Mrs. Mabel Stevens Himes, piano; Mr. I. L. Tello, violin; Mrs. Kathryn Grimmer-Baker, soprano; Miss Louise Thorne, contralto; Mr. Robert T. Sewell and Mr. Louis Hensel, basses. Albuquerque people are cordially invited to attend this concert and with the transportation facilities now available a large audience is looked for. The program as a whole will be carried out in detail, and its numbers insure a musical treat.

The baccalaureate service, yesterday, was notable because of the unusually large attendance. A great many people have acquired the habit of going to the university Sunday afternoon for the vespers service, and all of the regular attendants were present. In addition a large crowd who seldom visit the institution were present and were given a treat, not only in the fine address by Dr. Bergman, but in the musical features of the program. These included numbers by the Albuquerque Philharmonic orchestra and by the university festival chorus.

A number of Albuquerque ministers participated in the service. Rev. C. L. Dean delivered the invocation. The scripture reading was by Secretary W. H. Day of the Y. M. C. A., and the benediction by Rev. Archie Toothaker. Dr. Bergman said in part:

Dr. Bergman's Address.

"My friends: The world delights to honor men and women who are not easily discouraged. The loftiest pinacles of the highest mountains and the great heights to which man can climb physically represent only in part the sublimity of the noble and heroic characters who, with firm foot and fixed purpose, made their proclamation to the world. They were the sentinels of great thoughts whose lofty ideals, resolute working and steadfast integrity enabled them to give to the world its highest treasures, and though their voices may be silenced and their bodies may have mingled with the unconscious dust, the melody of their deeds will prevail forever, bringing to us the sweet assurance that the spirit of determination is the primary need of every soul that seeks to devote its best energies to the pursuit of knowledge in the field of nature and humanity.

"Where would we be today had we not had at the back of us the uplifting tendencies of the great thinkers, pioneers in the development of science, leaders in the domain of the arts and morals who, in the face of gigantic opposition, refused to be come faint-hearted? Time and time again were these fiery opponents of all sham, these smelters of insincerity, called upon to wrestle with disadvantages, yet they ever emerged with hardened energy, capable of carrying them along the path of the ideal which their life of struggle had helped them to conceive.

"Inspired with the determination to sail onward and onward, they cared not how stormy be the sea, or how furious the opposition that would turn them aside from their purpose. Back of the great things we have in this world, back of our culture and the imperishable blessings that bring comfort and inspiration to every soul, we find the individual giving up his life for the sake of that which enriches mankind.

"The spirit of determination has ever educated, developed and led the race on to higher and nobler things. It has advanced the great cause of truth, humanity and of religion the whole world over. You cannot read

Events in the university commencement exercises are as follows:
Monday, 8 p. m. Dual track meet. U. N. M. vs. Agricultural college.
Monday, 8 p. m. Annual concert, Rodey hall.
Tuesday, 10:30 a. m. Organ recital, First Congregational church; E. Stanley Seder, assisted by Mrs. J. O. Schwenker.
Tuesday, 9:30 p. m. Annual play, "Going Some" at Crystal theatre.
Wednesday, 10:30 a. m. Rodey hall, graduating exercises. Address by Hon. Felix Martinez.

profoundly the history of the past and come to any other conclusion."

The rabbi then explained how the spirit of determination has played an important part in the history of political, intellectual and moral liberty and how the great benefactors of civilization patiently, assiduously and heroically walked along the winding path which leads upward and onward, their courage, strength and determination leading them higher and higher to the unobstructed, light-flooded peak of the mountain of humanity.

"Today the world needs determined men and women probably more so than at any other time. Today, many nations are vying with each other, not in their achievement that elevate the mind, ennoble the heart and purify the soul, but in those things that degrade, tear down the holy temple of peace, and place rivers of blood between man and man. The face of Europe, darkened by war, has become a seething mass of fighting humanity. Strife and discord are rolling the nations of Europe into a bloody descent to barbarism. The true patriotism of today must display itself not in a readiness to slay, to devastate, to destroy, but a determination to appeal to the nobler instincts of man, and in sinking low, the savage mode of righting wrong.

UNIVERSITY ASKED TO PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS

President Boyd Receives Invitation from Secretary of State Bryan, to Participate in Gathering Next Winter.

Two notable invitations have reached the University of New Mexico, asking participation by the institution in educational work of national and international interest. One of these is an invitation to President David B. Boyd to attend the inauguration of Frank Johnson Goodnow, as president of Johns Hopkins university, on Thursday, May 20th, and also to attend the formal opening of the new buildings of that great institution at Homewood, on Friday, May 21st.

The second is from Secretary of State William J. Bryan and is a formal invitation to the university to participate by delegates named by the president in the Second Pan-American Scientific congress to be held under the auspices of the Government of the United States in Washington from December 27, 1915, to January 5, 1916. President Boyd hopes the university may have official representation from the faculty in this congress. Dr. Boyd has a letter from John Barrett, secretary general of the Pan-American Union, explaining the objects and work of the Pan-American Scientific congress, in which Mr. Barrett says in part:

This congress is the second of this name. The first congress, held in Santiago in 1908, with the Chilean government as host, had its origin in earlier Latin American scientific congresses, and was generously broadened to include the United States in their laudable undertakings. This conviction was further shown in the unselfish and voluntary action of the first congress in the selection of Washington as the place of meeting of the second.

In consideration of the opportunity that such a congress affords in the advancement of science, culture and commerce, and in the establishment of more intimate relations of friendship and mutual helpfulness among the republics of the western hemisphere, may I beg to express the hope that you will appoint, before the close of the present academic year, one delegate, with alternate, to represent your institution at this great congress, and that you will present at the earliest opportunity to your faculty, for the consideration of its members, the copy of the preliminary program which is being mailed you under separate cover.

In grateful appreciation of your valued co-operation, I am,
Very faithfully yours,
JOHN BARRETT,
Secretary General.

"GOING SOME" TO BE ATTRACTION TOMORROW

Lively Interest Evidenced In Advance Ticket Sales for the Annual University Play In Crystal Theatre.

Everybody who has seen a rehearsal at play that the annual university play "Going Some" is a scream. Even the retiring director of the production, Mr. H. M. Wiley, modestly admits that the play is an achievement, and dares any one who does not believe it to come out and see. The play is to be presented tomorrow night in Crystal theatre and the list of patrons and patronesses alone is sufficiently long to insure a crowded house. In addition there is a large advance sale of seats and there has never been a university play in which quite so much interest has been shown by the general public.

"Going Some" tells a thrilling story in a thrilling way, according to those who know about it. It is as thrilling, according to the press notices that it screams and keeps the audience screaming from start to finish. In all seriousness those who have been privileged to attend rehearsals declare the play one of very unusual merit and quite in a class of high grade professional theatricals. The list of the patrons and patronesses is in part as follows:

LET BOB KNOW IF YOU ARE GOING TO BANQUET

Plans are virtually complete for the banquet to be held by the Alumni association of the University of New Mexico at the Alvarado Wednesday night. It is to be, as told, a business gathering devoted to plans for the reorganization and rejuvenation of the association. No alumni of the college should miss it, if there is any possible chance of his attending. If you intend to go to the dinner, get word to Robert Sewell, who is at the head of the committee, without loss of time.

The jury in the case of Esequiel Zarracino, charged with attempting to kill Petrosino Gabaldon, acquitted him Saturday night.
